

why...?

This Britnic Sunday offers you a creative and inspiring get-together. The event is meant for everybody - the old and the young, the rich and the poor, traditionalists and free spirits...

You'll get to meet new people - if you want to - and your friends and family beyond the borders of your picnic blanket.

The Britnic is a great opportunity to relax and be inspired at the same time. Each year with a different accompanying programme!

Bring your own! Manual:

- please leave your barbecue device at home
- best arrive afoot, by bike or local public transport
- please take any rubbish with you after the event
- you may use the toilets inside the Westfälische Schule für Musik
- please consider donating to the organisers of the Britnic, we are all volunteers
- don't let potential raindrops scare you; just take an umbrella with you!

in commemoration of Wilm Weppelmann

The very first Britnic took place on July 10th, 2011. In 2017, it came to the ideal location, the site of the old zoo around the former Eulenhäus.

history ...

Queen Victoria loved to have her meals outside, so the Victorian era really made the picnic famous. The classic picnic basket, containing the meal as well as a blanket, dishes and cutlery, reached a wider public in Great Britain in the 19th century. A very important accessory was the tea pot.
